My Mother - D. 1885

Family tradition is that George Thomas, son of Richard Thomas was the Gen. Geo. Thomas of Civil war fame. He visited his brother when in Texas before the Civil War, when the Mexican War was in progress. John D. Thomas named his infant daughter, born short time after his visit, for his brother's wife. She was called Fanny, and in the next generation her sister Mattie, named her baby Fanny for her.

When the war between the states developed, Geo. H. Thomas felt he owed allegiance to the Union. His Sisters in Va. "turned his picture to the wall. His Brother John D. Thomas died of T.B. in Paris before the war, but of course all Southern families were for the South. As a little girl long after the war was ended, I asked my aunt about my name, Fanny. My mother had died when I was born, Fanny Thomas, my aunt died before. My aunt told me about the skeleton in our closet, the Yankee Uncle. It was a deep secret, needless to say I never told. By the time I was grown I met and married a "Yankee". Later in his Father's Library I found a history of Gen. George Thomas. Imagine my surprise to read that he was a son of Rie- John and Elizabeth Rochelle. I had been told that he was a nephew of James Rochelle, and he appointed ~~his~~ nephew George as his deputy, Rochelle being Clerk of the Court of Southampton Co. John Y. Mason appointed him a cadet to West Point from the Dist. He entered West Point June 1st. 1836. His father Richard Thomas, accompanied by wife "Mary" and younger son John D. Thomas arrived in Texas Dec. 12, 1836. In describing him always it is of his height. My Mother had five brothers, I knew three of them always, and they were all well over six feet and straight, and the pictures of Gen. Thomas look so much like the photos of my Grandfather, his brother. I feel that a mistake has been made in listing him as a son of John and Elizabeth, rather than son of Richard and Mary. They were injured, and both died young, he, (according to statements made by Gen. Thomas in applying for life insurance "my father died at age forty five as result of an accident." The histories give his father John and a brother Benjamin. Benjamin was a cousin. I want to find early records proving the facts.
